“ I was just thinking about how important it is for young people to learn to judge others by their character and choose their closest friends from among those who are kind. Over the years, as I thought about that issue, the example I always remembered was a student in one of my classes at Wheeling High School, named Jon Lemerande. When he came to mind once again, I googled his name only to discover that he passed away just 2 weeks ago. He probably wouldn't remember me but my 5 children have all grown up hearing about him as an example of someone who had grown past the selfishness of childhood much sooner than most of his peers. I pray that Jon is resting in the arms of Jesus with joy in his heart.

“ Jon's selfless dedication to everyone he met was shown today with the final bugle call of "Taps" signaling the end of this serviceman's day. The military suited his sense of order and his code of loyalty that was passed on to his boys. Jon taught me to cherish companionship, whether it be with your father, your friend, or your little dog. Jon had a way to make the good things in life a little bit better. What a blessing it has been to make memories with him. See you in heaven Jon Lemerande...

“ Jon was such a great guy! He was always so genuine. He was always happy to see friends and family. Even though he may not have felt well, he welcomed all into his home and let you know he was glad you were there. He was funny, patient, kind, humble and always himself. He persevered through a long illness and was happy to be back home with his wife and Rudy. He was proud of his children. Michelle, you were such a good match for him and he always told us you were a good woman. Thank you for taking such good care of him. We will miss him dearly.

“ Michelle and Kids..my deepest sympathy to you all. Have fond memories of Jon and seeing him at the Side Track and of course when Jeremy and Sonny were brought to my house in the early morning when Melanie was born so I could watch them. Be strong and take care of your Mom during this time. Hugs and prayers to you.
